

UNDERGRADUATE HUMAN RIGHTS AWARD

The Undergraduate Human Rights Award is given to the best academic paper or multi-modal project produced in a Department of English undergraduate course in the past year. Submissions should demonstrate a critical engagement with the literature, rhetoric, narrative, folklore, histories, laws, and/or cultural practices of human rights. The award is open to projects that employ any critical or theoretical approach. The recipient of this award will receive an invitation to the English Department's annual awards ceremony, which will take place in late April, and a $250 honorarium.

Students should submit:

- this completed application form; and
- three (3) clean copies of a paper—or provide a web address below if this is a multi-modal project—completed during the immediately previous fall, summer or spring semesters (essays/projects completed during earlier semesters will not be considered).

IMPORTANT NOTE: Include only the title of your paper on the copies of the papers themselves. Do not include your name, the professor's name, or the course title or number.

Questions: Contact MaryKatherine Ramsey at ramsey.240@osu.edu

Submission Procedure: These materials should be emailed as an attachment with the subject line "Human Rights scholarship application" to english.admin@osu.edu. No hard copies will be accepted.

Name _____
Last First Middle

Local address _____

Local or cell phone _____ E-mail address _____

College in which you are currently enrolled here at Ohio State _____

Intended major(s) (award is open to all undergraduates, regardless of major, as well as to recent graduates provided the paper submitted was written for a course offered during the terms listed above)

Expected date of OSU graduation _____

Please provide the following info for the paper/project that you are submitting for consideration.

Essay/project title _____

Web address if this is multi-modal project _____

Title of English course for which essay/project completed

_____ The term you completed this course (eg., Spring 2017)

Course # _____ Course instructor _____

To complete your application, you will need to submit this form along with the following:

Three (3) clean copies of your essay. The pages of your essay should be numbered and stapled together. If you are submitting a multi-modal project, provide a web address above and submit this form.